

Free course

TESSA: Teaching early reading in Africa – with African Storybook

Free statement of participation on completion

About this free course

24 hours study

Level 1: Introductory

Gain a digital badge

Ratings

0 out of 5 stars

Create an account to get more

By creating an account you can set up a personal learning profile on the site.

Create an account

Course description

Course content

Course reviews

Welcome to Teaching early reading in Africa, a course that introduces you to active teaching approaches that you can use to teach early reading. You will have the opportunity to practise new approaches in your classroom in a structured and supported way.

We hope this course opens up possibilities for your teaching and gives you the confidence to experiment with new approaches. It provides ideas and tools that will enable you to become more expert in the field of early reading.

You can study on your own, or with a group of colleagues. If internet access is a problem, note that you can download all the course content (except for the quizzes) and study offline.

This course is free and gives you the opportunity to earn a digital badge as a recognition of your learning. To access the course materials, pass the quizzes and collect the badge, you'll need to enrol. If you already have an Open University account, you need to sign in before you enrol. Otherwise, it's easy to create one.

Download course

Download this course for use offline or for other devices.

Course formats

Share this course

Course rewards

Free Statement of Participation on completion of the course